

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A pedestal cover for a semiconductor wafer. The wafer is positioned overlying the pedestal cover in a material deposition chamber, with the cover defining a peripheral circumferential trench therein. During the material deposition process, deposited material is formed within the trench and the build up of material adjacent a peripheral edge of the wafer is thereby avoided.